'Ability' Contest

College Leaders To Judge

Three local college presidents will serve as judges for the local phase of the report writing contest on "How the Physically Handicapped are Overcoming Barriers to Employment in My Community." The panel includes Dr. Leo F. Cain, president of California State College at Palos Verdes; Dr. Stuart E. Marsee, president of El Camino College; and Wendell C. Black, president of Los Angeles Harbor College.

Sponsored by the Torrance Community Committee on Employment for the Physically Handicapped, in cooperation with the state and national committee, the contest is open to area high school juniors and seniors.

JUNE C. ROPER, manager of the Torrance office of the California State Employment Service whose office is coordinating contest activities, says that 13 local high schools have been invited to participate. The contest will close Dec. 23 and judging will be completed by mid-January.

Judging of the 750-word reports will be on the basis of significance of content, evidence of research, originality, impact, organization, clarity of expression, and neatness. Special consideration will be given to the research aspects of the report.

The "Ability Counts" reports will be judged at the community, state and national levels. The state of California's first place winner will be the state's entry in the national contest.

PRIZES WILL include: community, first, $75 U.S. Savings Bond; second, $50 bond; and third, $25 bond; state, first, $100 plus expense paid trip to Washington, D.C.; second $75 U.S. Savings Bond; third, $50 Bond; fourth $25 Bond; and fifth, certificate signed for the President by chairman of NEPH Committee; national prizes, first, $1,000; second, $600; third $400; fourth $300; and fifth $200.

Shotguns Added to CHP Cars

Shotguns began making their appearance in California Highway Patrol cars this month, according to Bradford M. Crittenden, Commissioner of the Patrol.

"The California Legislature, in authorizing the installation of shotguns in Patrol cars, has improved the Highway Patrol's ability to protect not only its own officers but the general motoring public as well against the activities of known felons," Crittenden declared. "The need for this added protection has been growing steadily, particularly as it pertains to attacks on members of the Patrol and other peace officers.

"These shotguns will be fired only under circumstances which provide legal and moral justification for taking a human life and then only at a felon," Crittenden declared. "They are not to be used to stop speeders trying to evade arrest, but as a 'back-up weapon' in such circumstances as a roadblock, prison escape, or the apprehension of a known felon."

Air Canada Orders Two DC-9 Jets

Air Canada has placed an order for two additional twin-jet DC-9 transports with the Douglas Aircraft Co., bringing to eight the number of DC-9s ordered by the air carrier.

The first of six DC-9s will be delivered to Air Canada early in 1966 and the remaining two will be delivered later the same year.

Air Canada's order increased the total of announced purchases and options for the new short-to-medium range DC-9s to 44. The jetliners cost about $3.1 million each.

The first of the new jetliners is scheduled to roll off the production line Jan. 12, 1965, one full month ahead of schedule. The first DC-9 will make its maiden flight in March.

Production work on the DC-9s is done in the Long Beach and Torrance plants of Douglas Aircraft Co.
